My life has
a dream,
snatches seen
through grime.

hope's beginning

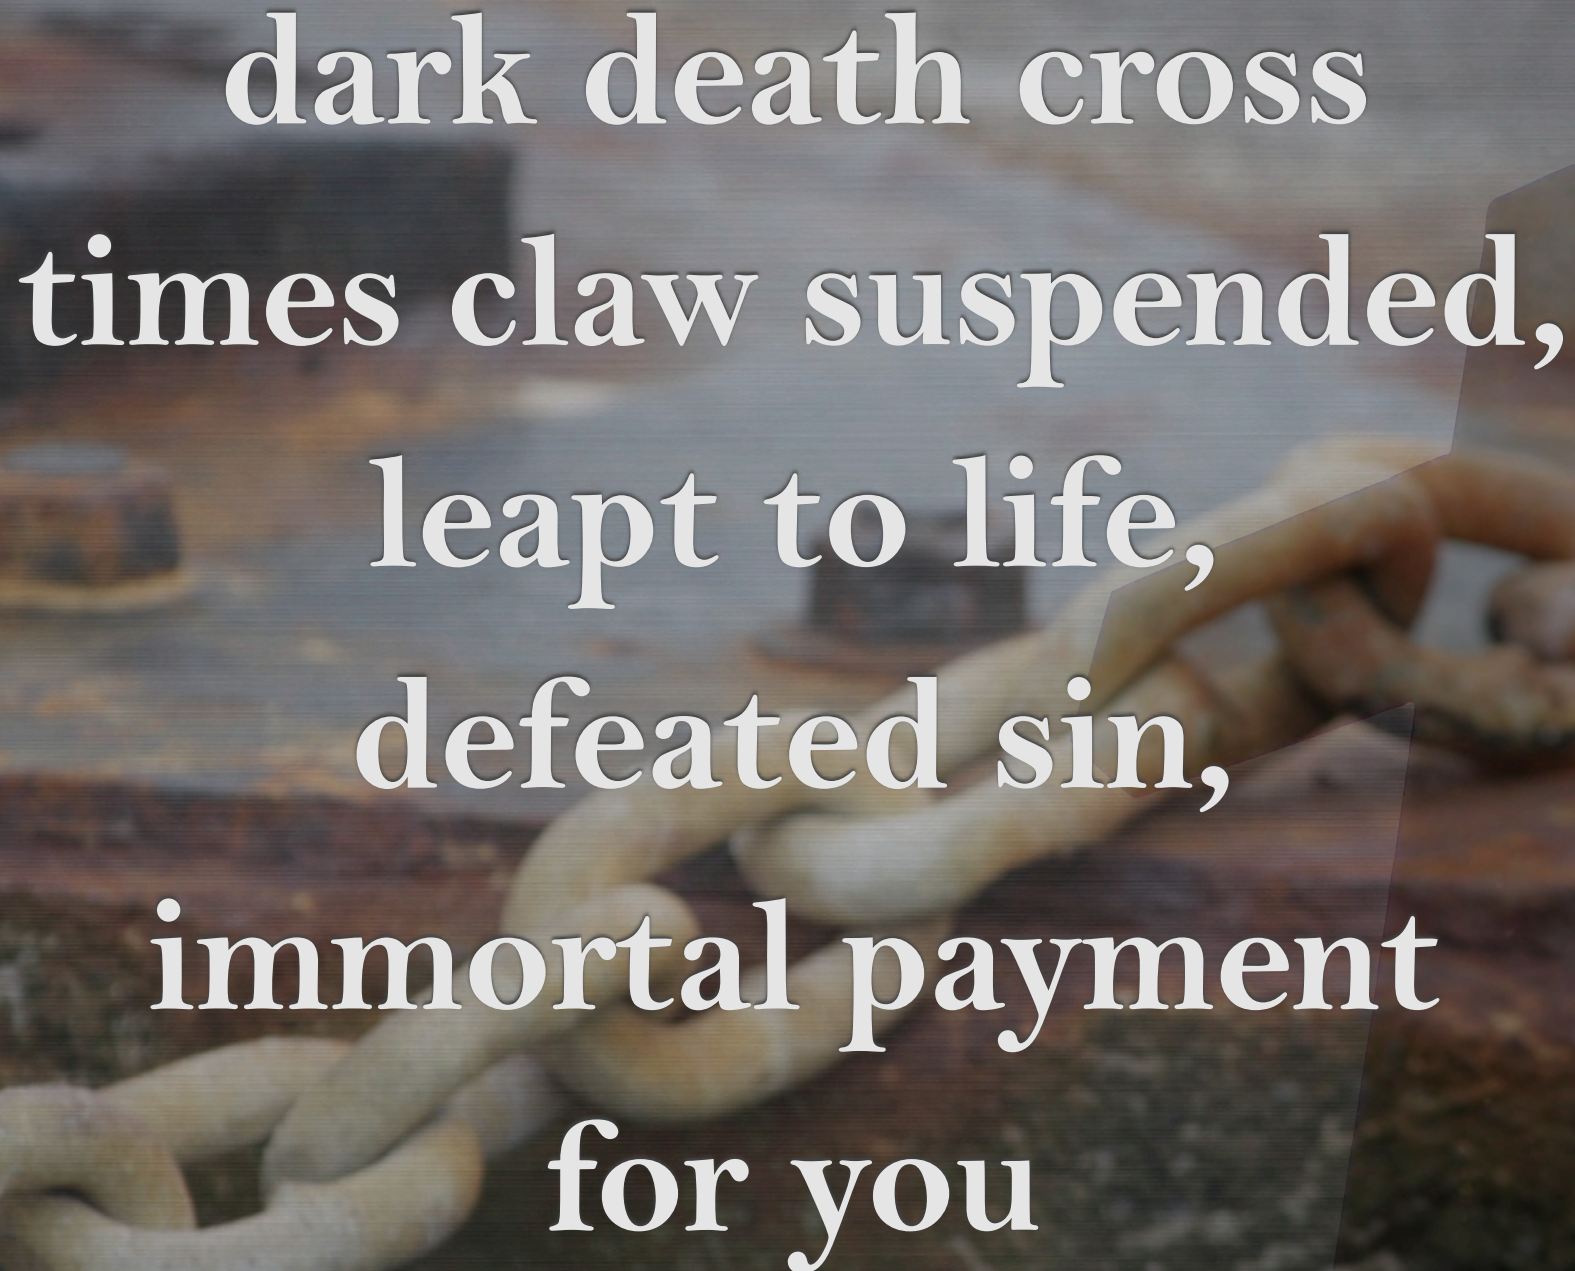

A collage of hands in various colors and poses against a dark red background. The hands are arranged in a circular pattern, with some reaching out and others in different gestures. The colors range from light skin to dark brown and black. The background is a gradient of dark red and purple.

A close-up photograph of a sloth's face, looking directly at the camera. The sloth is holding a large, ornate, dark metal key in its mouth. The key has a complex, multi-lobed head and a long, straight shaft. The background is a soft-focus green, showing the fronds of a fern. The overall mood is mysterious and symbolic.
