Trapped, a consignment to consumerism, No pity, No rights, Death by degrees, slaves, poor because mandates and manacles rights and reasons are all in the hands off a powerful few. Insidiously hidden third world or first world thousands live daily death; Sex trade, sold souls, cheap and cheapened labour, poverty raping minds and lives from the future. How can we watch only numbed by statistics defrauded, desensitised by media, Someone else. Someone else, Someone else will.

And you saw me
Hungry, in poverty
Trapped
and you walked on by Head down
another message on your cell,
another appointment,
What will others think of
your heroin?
Excuses of
not having enough,
worried for your own future.

You saw me, And never saw me.
